Exhibition Background

China is a big country in aquaculture, processing, circulation, trade and consumption, with the output of aquatic products ranking first in the world. Guangdong has been ranking first in aquaculture and first in consumption for three consecutive years. The report of the 20th National Congress clearly states that our country should commit to developing the marine fishery economy, accelerating the pace of building a strong maritime nation. In response to this strategic deployment, the Central No.1 document of 2023 particularly emphasizes the importance of building modern marine ranches, advocating the development of advanced technologies to further expand the use of marine resources and promote the sustainable development of the marine economy.
